

CLOTHING—M. GUTMAN &amp; CO.

Look at the Workmanship.

When you buy your clothing look at the making. Consider the quality of it. Fit and style don't count for much unless they are backed with good tailoring. That's where our clothing wins. That's why it keeps its shape until worn out, and wears longer than any other. All the newest ideas are here at less than usual prices. See our great values.

A BIG CHANGE

Is Already Observed in Business Conditions in Wheeling.

BANKS AND MANUFACTURERS

Tell of These Changes—Hoarded Gold Is Being Deposited in the Banks of the City—Hed Bryan Been Elected This Would Not Have Been Put in Circulation—Hoffmann Tannery Makes Improvements—Orders Being Received.

The election of McKinley and a Congress in which sound money forces will have control has produced a wonderful change in the financial and commercial world, and here in Wheeling the change is easily seen and appreciated. On all sides are heard intimations of extensions and improvements to be made by local manufacturing establishments, and orders that were made contingent on McKinley's success will now be filled, giving employment to additional labor in large numbers.

An Intelligencer reporter visited several of the Wheeling banks yesterday and asked the officials as to any changes in financial conditions that have been brought about by the election of McKinley and the triumph of sound money. Those of the officials who would talk said that one effect of the election has been heavy offerings of gold coin for deposit. The gold had been hoarded by the people who were fearful of the possibility of Bryan's election. Now that sound money has triumphed the gold is being deposited in the banks, for the reason that silver or paper is just as good.

At one bank, the Exchange, the first deposit made Wednesday, the morning after the election, was a cool $1,000 in gold, which had been hoarded by the depositor on account of the political situation. There were other instances of the same character. Altogether it is thought many thousands of dollars in gold were held out of circulation here before the election.

Nearly all of the manufacturing establishments report an improved situation since the election of last Tuesday. As will be noticed below, several plants have improvements in contemplation and one has already let a contract for additions and improvements.

At the Whitaker Iron works many conditional orders are being filled. In the event of Bryan's election the orders would have been cancelled. In a conversation, Senator Whitaker said: "From now on we look for an improvement in the general tone of business. It is useless to expect business to boom at once, and especially within a few days. Possibly, ten days or more may show a decided improvement, but a very perceptible improvement will be felt I think, in six or eight months."

The greatest satisfaction over McKinley's election was exhibited at John J. Hoffman Sons' Company's tannery. Three orders of one carload each of leather had been received some days ago, and the orders were to be forfeited if Bryan should win. Each of the three orders was for a carload of leather and each to a western town, one of them being Lincoln, Neb., the home of the presidential candidate. The shipments are being made. The leather industry must have been alarmed at the probability of Bryan's election, for one of the firm showed a letter from a prominent Michigan tanner, who referred to McKinley's election and said he would now put his men to work, as the uncertainty was over. The Intelligencer reporter was shown a letter by the same member of the firm, which is of especial interest to the citizens of Gorman, this state. The Hoffman tanning company has a tannery factory in that town, and the letter dictated yesterday from this city, gave orders to increase the plant at Gorman, and put up another building, sixty-five by one hundred feet, to add one hundred more vats, another new boiler and other machinery. This letter will reach Gorman probably to-day, and had the Boy President been a sure thing, such a letter would not have been written. It is safe to say, for some time at least.

The Warwood Tool Works seems destined for a steady run. The manager is elated over McKinley's election and stated that business would undoubtedly grow better, and that he had received many enquiries about purchasing goods since it was seen that McKinley would certainly be elected. Throughout the week preceding the election anticipation of such a result had partially restored confidence in the business world.

Yesterday was a red letter day for the La Belle mill. More orders were received yesterday than in any one day in the past six months, and the bulk of them were by telegraph. A great many enquiries had been received last week, and a significant fact is that the enquiries were made so that the answer of the mill could not be sent until after election, thus giving the sender of the order a chance to see who was elected before he could close the order. Acceptance of the mill's quotations were received from several, yesterday, the day after the election. For the past ten days business has practically been conducted after this fashion. Firms doing business with each other getting quotations on goods, and holding off until it was seen that Bryan was not elected and then wiring acceptance.

The Wheeling Pottery Company has had several communications of a similar bearing to those mentioned above. Bryan's election was greatly feared by the commercial world. The pottery expects to fill considerable orders that were hanging in the balance. Some men have never doubted McKinley's election and consequently their orders have been the means of keeping things going. Trusting to the uncertain would have caused idleness where fairly steady work has been the rule.

One of the largest manufacturing concerns in the state contemplates extensive improvements at its big plant on the South Side, and all on account of the election of McKinley for President. A large number of orders which have been on the result of the contest, will now be filled and the plant will be running full time in a few weeks, something it has not done for two years.

One firm of architects has plans in preparation for a six-story business house on Main street, a block of eight houses, and several smaller blocks. The buildings would not have been erected had Mr. Bryan been successful.

DEATH OF A. C. F. EBELING.

A Well Known Citizen Dies of Pneumonia—Mr. Ebeling's Business Career in Wheeling—The Funeral Sunday.

Mr. A. C. F. Ebeling died at his home, 2723 Eoff street, yesterday evening shortly before 7 o'clock. Mr. Ebeling had never fully recovered from an attack of pneumonia last December, and though at times able to be out, was still suffering. During the last six weeks he has been confined to his bed.

Mr. Ebeling was born in Lauenforde, Hanover, Germany, in 1837, and coming to this country in 1859, settled in Wheeling, where he has since resided. Having learned the cigar making trade in his birthplace, he found no difficulty in getting work at his trade in Wheeling, and in a few years started in business for himself. He afterwards formed a partnership with Martin Pebler and John C. Beck, and the latter retiring in four years, the firm Ebeling & Pebler continued, and employed a large number of workmen making cigars and stogies.

Mr. Ebeling was possessed of shrewdness and good business capacity, which characterized all the undertakings in which he was connected. In political affairs he has taken an active part as a Republican; he has served in the city council for twelve years, he served the city efficiently as a member of the school board, and for the past two terms he has been on the water board, being at the time of his death a member of the board whose term expires at the close of this year. The deceased was connected with several fraternal organizations, belonging to Ohio Lodge A. F. and A. M., Concord Lodge I. O. O. F., and Logan Tribe of the Red Men.

He was married in 1861 to A. Kate Miller, who survives him, with their five sons, George H., Charles L., J. E., H. A., Frank A., and daughter, Kate A. The funeral will take place from his late residence on Sunday afternoon, and will be largely attended.

Mrs. Caldwell's Funeral.

The funeral of Mrs. B. F. Caldwell, wife of Mayor Caldwell, took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the family residence on the Island. Rev. Joseph Speer, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, of which Mrs. Caldwell was a member, and Rev. J. L. McCutcheon, pastor of the First Baptist church, conducted the funeral services. The interment was private and took place at Greenwood cemetery.

The pall bearers were: Messrs. W. B. Simpson, John Bodley, H. P. McGregor, James McAdams, Captain R. T. Devries and Joseph Lawson.

Resolutions of Respect.

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 4, 1896.

At a special meeting of the board of directors of the Junction Iron and Steel Company, held this day, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God in the dispensation of His Providence, to remove from among us our beloved friend and member of this board, Mr. James W. Paxton, of Wheeling, W. Va., and while we bow in humble submission to the Divine will, be it

Resolved, That having been associated with Mr. Paxton for many years, we testify our earnest appreciation of his many virtues, ability and character, and will ever bear in remembrance the wise counsel and advice which characterized his official action, and by which the company we have the honor to represent, were so largely benefited. Be it further

Resolved, That in token of our respect and esteem for the deceased, we extend to his bereaved family and friends our sincere sympathy, and furnish them a copy of these resolutions; and be it further

Resolved, That the foregoing resolutions be spread on the minutes of the board of directors, and published in the daily Intelligencer and Register of this city, and as a further token of respect, we do now adjourn.
